D.A.R.E. to Know...D.A.R.E. News

D.A.R.E. Curriculum – Science & Evidence-Based that’s “keepin’ it REAL”

Did you know that the D.A.R.E. curriculum is science-based? Since 1983, D.A.R.E. has relied upon educational and scientific experts to develop each generation of curriculum. Today’s curriculum and various enhancement lessons involve complex reasoning and decision-making skills. Further, they involve active learning principles that are age-appropriate, as well as best teaching practices with authentic activities in which D.A.R.E. instructors are facilitators. D.A.R.E.’s new middle school curriculum, keepin’ it REAL, is the latest example –high-tech, interactive, and is on the government’s national register of evidence-based programs that use the latest in prevention science and teaching techniques.

A D.A.R.E. Officer's Own Words...

Former high school principal becomes a D.A.R.E. instructor and starts a new life!

I am a retired high school principal who wanted to be a D.A.R.E. officer! I am currently teaching the D.A.R.E. program and I am enjoying every minute with the young people in the classroom. I wish to express my thanks and gratitude for helping me find this rewarding experience with the D.A.R.E. program. I use many of the teaching "tools" in the classroom and find the results to be outstanding. It is truly an awesome opportunity to do something with such purpose and worth. D.A.R.E. Officer "Deputy Dan" Jerbi Read the rest of the story
